

Roots Down

New Bedford

what:

A Free Wintertime Organic Garden Planning Workshop Series for 2010

why:

To help new and experienced gardeners gain a deeper understanding of methods used in healthy food production.

To help build local food security for our community.

To increase the yield and nutritional quality of your produce.

when:

4 Thursdays (Feb 11, 25 and March 18, 25) 4PM-6PM

This series of four workshops is geared toward new and experienced gardeners who are interested in learning more about organic growing techniques, connecting with other gardeners, and learning about nutrient dense food production.

Each workshop will build on topics presented in the earlier workshops, so we invite and recommend attending all four dates. More details about each session available at brixbounty.com

Please RSVP to preregister by contacting us at 508-992-1868 or emailing derekchristianson@gmail.com.

We plan to resume monthly Roots Down - New Bedford Workshops in April 2010. Visit www.BrixBounty.com for more information.
